TO: TITLE:Shadow

Descr.:Sun rising from the East brightens up the villa and makes the big, centennial oak tree reflect it's shadow on about one third of the long and wide, circular marble chips driveway which enters and exits the antebellum manor from Main Street, in the Robinson Springs section, also known as highway 143.

TO: TITLE: Nature's clock

Descr.:Shadows change their size and shape as the sun moves towards the west to set. My grand father, who was a big farmer, could detect the time of day, just about to the minute, following the cycle of the sun and the direction and shapes of the shadows. He made us examin our body shadows as the evening advanced. I wish I had kept the old knowledge alive. The old lore was the best survival tool.
